

Federal Notice of Proposed Rulemaking

The Federal Notice of Proposed Rulemaking form example illustrates the standardized template used by government agencies to notify the public about potential regulatory changes. This form ensures transparency and invites public comments before finalizing any new rule. Understanding its structure helps stakeholders participate effectively in the regulatory process.

1. Agency Information

Agency Name	_____
Agency Contact	_____
Document Number	_____
RIN (Regulation Identifier Number)	_____

2. Action

Action Type	Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (NPRM)
Date of Publication	_____
CFR Citation	_____

3. Summary

[Brief description of the proposed rule, its purpose, and key changes.]

4. Dates

- Comments Due By: _____
- Public Hearing (if applicable): _____

5. Addresses

Submit comments by one of the following methods:

- Online: [Docket/Portal Web Address]
- Mail: [Physical Address]
- Fax: [Fax Number]

6. Supplementary Information

[Detailed background, legal authority, relevant analyses, and discussions of the proposed rule.]

7. Regulatory Analyses

- Regulatory Flexibility Analysis
- Paperwork Reduction Act
- Executive Orders
- Other statutory/regulatory requirements

For Further Information Contact

Name	_____
Title	_____
Phone	_____
Email	_____

Sample template based on Federal Register standards; actual forms may vary by agency.