

Customizing Safety Culture Survey for Construction Companies

Customizing a safety culture survey for construction companies ensures that the unique risks and challenges of the industry are accurately assessed. Tailored surveys help identify specific safety attitudes and behaviors, promoting a proactive approach to workplace safety. This customization leads to more effective interventions and improved overall safety performance on construction sites.