

Impact of Social Media Usage Survey on Academic Performance

The impact of social media usage survey reveals significant correlations between students' online activities and their academic performance. Understanding these effects helps educators develop strategies to balance social media engagement with study habits. Ultimately, this insight promotes improved learning outcomes and digital well-being.