

Sales Analysis Report by Product Category

The sales analysis report by product category provides detailed insights into the performance of different product groups, helping businesses identify trends and opportunities. This report enables data-driven decision-making by highlighting top-selling categories and underperforming segments. Efficiently organizing sales data allows companies to optimize inventory and marketing strategies.