

Patient Health Questionnaire Reliability in Elderly Populations

The patient health questionnaire demonstrates high reliability in elderly populations, ensuring accurate assessment of mental health conditions. Its validated structure allows consistent screening across diverse older adults, facilitating early intervention. This reliability is crucial for tailoring effective treatment plans in geriatric care settings.