

Digital Health and Wellness Survey Data Privacy Concerns

The digital health and wellness survey highlights growing concerns about data privacy among users. Participants emphasize the need for secure handling and transparent policies regarding personal health information. Ensuring confidentiality is crucial for fostering trust and encouraging honest responses in digital health platforms.