

Validity of Health Assessment Questionnaire in Lupus

The validity of the Health Assessment Questionnaire (HAQ) in lupus is essential for accurately measuring patient-reported functional ability. Studies have demonstrated that the HAQ reliably reflects the impact of lupus on daily living activities. This ensures healthcare providers can effectively monitor disease progression and treatment outcomes.